

STEPHEN DUFFY

Natalie

(Parlophone)

Stephen Duffy is the the man who sang "Kiss me with your mouth" and then went on to a spectacular lack of success with The Lilac Time. Well, anyway, he's back with another song to add to the 120 or so already filed in the bargain bins.

'Natalie' is filled with drifting tunes and wimpy intentions although third track, 'An Angel Gets His Wings', is a pleasant enough pop tune with its rather choppy chorus of "Every time you ring my bell/An angel gets his wings". Since when have angels all been boys, huh? Oh, and Nigel Kennedy has done the string arrangements.
